REALTORS' FORUM

Industry stakeholders are of the view that with more clarity on the new GST rates which got applicable from April 1, 2019, realty developers are expected to witness a positive response of homebuyers in near future.

On a macro level, with the lowered GST rate, the customers no doubt will have the benefit as this year will see a lot of new projects being launched and the previous ones going for possessions, which will surely push the prices upwards on ready to move in apartments, giving the existing buyer a better return.
